

The future of adult education

A discussion with your local PPCs

- Saturday 28 November: 2-5pm
- UCF, Tontine Street, Folkestone

A chance to quiz Prospective Parliamentary Candidates for the Folkestone and Hythe constituency on their views of the place adult learning does and should play in society. The WEA, a charity which provides adult education courses, is campaigning with other organisations not for more public money overall to be spent on lifelong learning, but for the 'four ages' of lifelong learning to be recognised and reflected in a rebalancing of education policy.

Please do come along, meet your next MP and find out more!

Speakers:

- Damian Collins
Conservative Prospective Parliamentary Candidate
- Donald Worsley
Labour Prospective Parliamentary Candidate
- Local Liberal Democrat Representative (TBC)
- Tom Schuller, Director of the Inquiry into the Future of Lifelong Learning, which recently produced its report Learning Through Life
- Richard Bolsin, WEA General Secretary
