Course description

Introduction to Permaculture Design at Community Roots Two Day Course 26th/27th of July 2025

If you are interested in working with land, nature or community, the introduction to permaculture design course will offer an opportunity to further your interest and enjoy time learning out of doors .

This welcoming community education course will be hosted at Community Roots Garden. No prior experience is necessary. The course will consist of a bit of fun theory, discussions and practical land based outdoor sessions. During the two day course you will become familiar with the ethics an principles of design and develop practical skills in designing land based or social projects.

Permaculture is a design framework based upon principles found in nature. It is successfully used for designing organic food production in gardens and land based projects and is also used by community groups and organisations for designing for social change and building healthy human environments.
