Course overview

This course is funded by the Department for Education and only open to residents living in non devolved authorities. Budgeting Skills (Home Office) supports Entry 1–Entry 2 ESOL learners to understand everyday money management in the UK. The course introduces common household expenses such as rent, food and utility bills, and helps learners recognise UK coins, notes and payment methods including cash, card and contactless. Learners develop basic vocabulary for talking about money, shopping and bills, and practise reading simple documents such as receipts and utility bills. Through practical activities, they begin to sort needs from wants and track basic spending, building early confidence in managing their personal budget.

Course description

Budgeting Skills (Home Office) is designed for Entry 1–Entry 2 ESOL learners who are new to managing money in the UK and want to build confidence with everyday financial tasks. The course introduces key household expenses such as rent, food, travel and utility bills, helping learners understand the basic costs involved in daily life. Learners become familiar with UK coins, notes and payment methods, including cash, card and contactless, and practise using simple vocabulary to talk about money, shopping and bills.

Reading tasks focus on understanding everyday financial documents such as receipts, simple utility bills and basic statements. Learners explore the difference between needs and wants and take part in practical activities to help them track simple spending and make informed choices. Group discussions and paired tasks support vocabulary development and build confidence in talking about money in a supportive environment.

By the end of the course, learners will feel more comfortable managing small budgets, recognising key financial information and understanding the basic steps involved in everyday money management in the UK. The course provides a foundation for further ESOL or financial skills learning.

What financial support is available?

We don't want anything to stand in your way when it comes to bringing Adult learning within reach so if you need anything to support you to achieve your goals then speak to one of our education experts during your enrolment journey.
