Course description

English for Work and Study (Level 1) supports learners who want to develop the English skills needed for more advanced communication in work, education and everyday life. The course builds on Entry 3 skills and introduces tasks requiring greater accuracy, fluency and independence. Learners practise taking part in extended discussions, giving detailed information, expressing opinions, and understanding longer explanations in a range of familiar and unfamiliar contexts.

Reading tasks include longer texts such as articles, reports, instructions and workplace documents. Writing tasks include structured paragraphs, short reports, emails and messages for different purposes. Activities include group discussions, presentations, reading tasks, guided writing and problem-solving activities.

The course helps learners develop strategies for effective communication, such as summarising information, adapting tone and register, and asking detailed questions.
